

THE MR B'S BOOKSELLER'S DOZEN

WE'RE READIN' IN SUNSHINE...WOOAH!

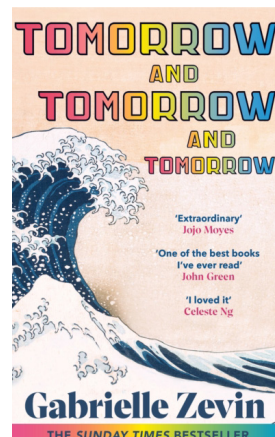

Picnics in the park, barbeques in the garden, maybe even a little early Summer break - all joys which June brings, and all made better by a brand-new book! Here are the books we're most excited about this coming June

TRUST BY HERNAN DIAZ FICTION - 1ST JUNE

Pan Macmillan £9.99
A Wall Street tycoon takes a young woman as his wife in 1920s New York and the pair rise to the very top of the city's elite. But where among Diaz's four competing narratives does the truth of this enigmatic pair lie? A sumptuous novel, recently awarded the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction.

TOMORROW AND TOMORROW AND TOMORROW BY GABRIELLE ZEVIN FICTION - 29TH JUNE

Vintage £9.99
Sam and Sadie, friends since childhood, come together to collaborate on a hit video game. But that barely tells half the story. Taking place over three decades, this transformative novel is a celebration of love, friendship, success, failure and the complexities of life.

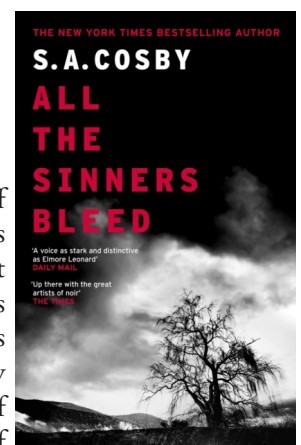

AN ASTRONOMER IN LOVE BY ANTOINE LAURAIN FICTION - 22ND JUNE

Gallic Books £16.99
In 1760, King Louis XV's astronomer sets sail for India. More than two centuries later, an estate agent chances upon an antique telescope in a property he's selling, a discovery that will change his life forever. Mr B's favourite Laurain returns with another enchanting tale of Parisian whimsy.

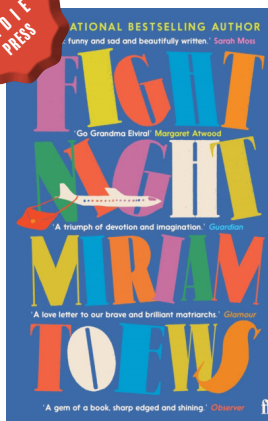

ALL THE SINNERS BLEED BY S.A. COSBY FICTION - 6TH JUNE

Headline £20
Titus is the first Black sheriff Charon County, Virginia, has ever seen. When a teacher is shot dead at the local school, Titus's investigations peel back layers of racism, corruption and grisly murders. A truly brilliant slice of dark American noir for fans of Dennis Lehane and Attica Locke.
